...I want to thank you all for accompanying me in my journey, supporting me. It really does mean a lot, and I appreciate it so much. You all keep being wonderful, and keep positive. I remember when I wasn't in a good place, it hurt. I didn't know if I could keep myself happy, it was hard to. Quitting activities, turned away by loved ones. With time, it will get better. Over these entries, I've learnt to keep positive. Dwelling on the bad things, only limits your opportunities. Give life a chance, even if it punches you in the stomach. To those of you who read my comments, thank you for staying in my journey. To those of you who reply to my comments, I read every single one of them. To those of you who do their own entries, keep on doing it. I'm so glad that this little community is so nice, who are supportive of each other. We hear our ensemble performances, and they went well. We had two performances, just at different times during school. I'm very happy with how wen performed, we did well. I then got home, did since revision. And, with that. I am stopping my entries, here. Thank you all, again. Take care of yourselves, and love life. Thank you, people.
